

Dear Members

Next Tuesday, the 23rd April, is Saint George's Day, which is the traditionally accepted date of the saint's death. This day holds significance not only for England, but also for other Christian churches, countries, and regions where Saint George is the patron saint. His legendary status as a dragon-slayer and his association with chivalry and bravery have made him an iconic figure in English culture. The legend of Saint George and the Dragon describes him taming and slaying a dragon that demanded human sacrifices! This tale has contributed to his popularity and the symbolism of the St. George's Cross, which is closely intertwined with English national identity.
