

Dear Members

Today is officially the first day of Spring! It's time to pack away those big winter coats and look forward to Buck Moon Musical Eggtravaganza (1st June before you ask), Chocolate Eggs, and with a little optimism, Barbeques and Pimms in the garden! This is the Spring Equinox (Vernal Equinox) when day and night are approximately the same length, as the sun passes across the Equator, moving from the Southern to Northern Hemisphere. The word equinox comes from two Latin words meaning equal and night (easy to know when it's pointed out right?!).
